

CREATING A LEGACY

Get to know LLOYD CONSTRUCTION, the Sun Valley firm that unites tradition and design innovation into each of their homebuilds.

What kind of experience do you provide for homeowners throughout the construction process from start to finish?

FOUR DECADES of experience has taught us that a well-organized construction process and transparent communication are the keys to a successful custom build or remodel. The foundation of our business or “The Lloyd Way”, ensures we are communicating and serving our clients from the initial planning stages throughout construction, and providing continuing support for years to come.

You design projects all across Idaho. What specific elements in your projects are unique to Sun Valley?

THE TEAMS we work with here, architects and designers alike, take extra care and consideration into integrating with the natural environment. They’ve mastered working in harmony with the local topography, using colors and textures that are unique to our landscape. Any manner of biophilic design is woven into our homes.

What serves as your biggest source of inspiration in Sun Valley while building a project?

I’VE ALWAYS BEEN INSPIRED by my dad, John. He’s honest, hard working and an all-around great guy to be around. A lot of incredible homes in our valley are his work and I work towards leaving a similar legacy for my children by being the best contractor and person I can be every day.

Lloyd Construction has been producing homes for four decades and won numerous accolades—what sets you apart from other construction firms?

PERSONAL AND PROFESSIONAL GROWTH is a pillar of our business model. The last thing we want is to become complacent, so we’re constantly striving to provide the very best product, client experience and value.

Describe your dream project and what it would look like if you had an unlimited budget and creative freedom.

WE’VE HAD the good fortune to be involved with numerous dream projects with unlimited creative freedom that are fun and rewarding. The common thread is that there is always a strong team culture between the owner, architect and contractor.
